

RUSSELL 2000 DIVIDEND GROWERS ETF

Target the Russell 2000's Best Dividend Growers

Companies that grew their dividends year over year outperformed those that didn't. Why invest in the ones that didn't grow dividends?

Dividend growth: Historically provided a clear signal of return potential

Small-cap stocks offer a way to capture growth in the U.S. economy. For small-cap exposure, you may look to a broad index like the Russell 2000®. But why invest in the whole index if you can zero in on the companies with the longest history of dividend growth?

Companies that consistently grow their dividends tend to be high-quality companies with the potential to withstand market turmoil and can still deliver strong risk-adjusted total returns over time. Companies that cut or suspend a dividend may have cash flow problems or too much debt on the books.

Investing in the companies that have not only paid dividends but have consistently grown them over time has historically been an effective way to outperform the market.

Small-cap companies with the longest records of dividend growth

SMDV focuses on the Russell 2000 companies that have the longest track records of year-over-year dividend growth:

- Follows the Russell 2000® Dividend Growth Index
- Invests in the Russell 2000 companies that have increased dividend payouts every year for at least 10 consecutive years

Russell 2000 Dividend Growth Index

About the index

The Russell 2000 Dividend Growth Index:

- Invests in companies currently in the Russell 2000 index that have increased dividends every year for at least 10 consecutive years
- Contains a minimum of 40 stocks, which are equally weighted
- Limits the weight of any single sector to no more than 30% of the index
- Is rebalanced to equal weight quarterly in March, June, September and December, with an annual reconstitution during the June rebalance

If fewer than 40 stocks meet criteria, the index may include companies with shorter dividend growth histories.

Index highlights

10 years of consecutive dividend growth points to strength and stability.

Equal weighting methodology, unlike traditional market cap weighting:

- Treats each company as a distinct investment opportunity without regard to its size
- Does not have any single large weightings, so it is not overly dependent on a few holdings for performance

Broad diversification across industry sectors.

SMDV's total operating expenses are 0.40%. The performance quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost. Shares are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the fund. Market price returns are based upon the midpoint of the bid/ask spread at 4:00 p.m. ET (when NAV is normally determined for most funds) and do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Standardized returns and performance data current to the most recent month end may be obtained by visiting ProShares.com. There is no guarantee dividends will be paid. Companies may reduce or eliminate dividends at any time, and those that do will be dropped from the index at reconstitution. Indexes are unmanaged and one cannot invest directly in an index. Past performance does not guarantee future results.

Star rating is © 2018 Morningstar, Inc. All Rights Reserved. The Morningstar information contained herein: (1) is proprietary to Morningstar; (2) may not be copied or distributed; and (3) is not warranted to be accurate, complete or timely. Neither Morningstar nor its content providers are responsible for any damages or losses arising from any use of this information. The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating," is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. Star ratings are calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The Morningstar Rating does not include any adjustment for sales loads. The top 10% of products in each product category receive five stars, the next 22.5% receive four stars, the next 35% receive three stars, the next 22.5% receive two stars, and the bottom 10% receive one star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five- and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. SMDV was rated against 348 U.S.-domiciled Small Value funds for the last three years ending March 31, 2018. With respect to these Small Value funds, SMDV received a Morningstar Rating of 5 stars for the three-year period. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.
